Rameder towbars for the good old Beetle

The Volkswagen Beetle is one of the classic cars you see most often. And in contrast to gull-wing door cars and so on, you can even see it on ordinary roads, although little space and a small boot render it inconvenient for ordinary uses. Rameder, one of the leading providers of transport accessories for cars, thus sells a towbar for many Beetle models dating from 1967 to 1984 at www.rameder.eu.

The rigid hook with its welded ball head enables the Beetle to tow small trailers or caravans. And at a vertical coupling load of 50kg, affixing a bicycle rack is no problem either. The maximum towing capacity depends upon the specific model of the many produced over the decades. The D-value is 4.84 kN. The towbar needs a mounting time of ca. 1.5 h. Also available are a 7-pin electrical kit and a 13-pin kit. Time to get going and towing, don't you think?!
